Situated over seven floors in a grade II listed power station, Metropolis Studios lends a unique and iconic backdrop for any television, advertising, and/or film production.

Set over seven floors with huge floor-to-ceiling atriums offering natural light with a communal bar at the heart of the building, the Power House can cater for full building lock-outs down to much smaller in-studio productions.

Our facility is regularly booked for film shoots, photo shoots, documentaries, music video productions, and conferences. Our interior can be prepped and dressed to match any client's needs and being off-street makes us ideal for privacy and loading access.

Located in West London just off the M4, we are close to Heathrow with direct links to neighbouring film sites like Garden Studios, Pinewood Studios, and Twickenham Studios.
